Improve the look of ageing skin, safely

Facts

Injectable treatments use safe, tried and tested medications that are approved by UK and International bodies.

Because they are classed as medications, it is illegal to name and promote the treatments in the UK. And yes, every website, ad and leaflet you see that names the products and the results you can expect, is in breach of the law! It is nigh on impossible to enforce, but we have always preferred to do things right.

The products we use are well-known brands that have passed several stringent approvals (including the notoriously difficult US FDA) and have been safely used for decades.

Our approach, as ever, is conservative always preferring to start with the least amount of medication and building up as required. All the injectables we use are NON-PERMANENT so will need topping up. The frequency depends on the individual's metabolism and requirements.

Procedure

Consultation

You will have a consultation with your dentist where you can discuss what you would like to achieve and they can give you the treatment options.

We always recommend that the treatment is carried out at a later date, to give you time to consider your options and make your decision.

Treatment

Typically, treatment takes around 20 minutes to half an hour and you can return to work or go out immediately after with no visible marks or after-effects. We always deliver the least amount of medication preferring to build up gradually. Results on some treatments can take up to two weeks to develop.

Follow-up

Two weeks after your treatment you will return for a ten minute follow-up appointment where the results can be assessed and additional treatment can be administered if necessary.

Improve the look of ageing skin, safely

Keeping your mouth healthy and having a knock-out smile can take years off you. But when you've worked hard to achieve this it can be frustrating if frown lines, crows feet and sagging cheeks and jowls distract from the result.

Injectable treatments have been tried and tested for decades, as successful non-permanent ways to tackle wrinkles and plump skin. And with their unparalleled knowledge of facial bone structure and musculature, as well as their experience of delivering injections, your dentist is uniquely placed to perform these treatments.
